Dear Mr. Marriott:

I am forwarding herewith three copies of a transliteration manual prepared by FRIS which [ ] has said would be of interest to your Russian language people.

It is our policy to make available to the BBC any documents produced by FRIS, and additional copies of this manual may be obtained if in your view they are valuable. Please note that this particular manual is not classified in any way and therefore may be used quite freely by your staff at Caversham.

Other documents are from time to time classified "Confidential" and higher, and we are obliged to restrict their use. I believe the exact details of this restricted use are set forth in correspondence between Col. L. K. White, my predecessor, and Mr. Malcolm Frost, your predecessor.

With kindest regards, I am,

Sincerely,

STAT
